To Whom It May Concern,

For the past year, Kela Parker has been part of our core team here at Marmoset and has consistently exceeded all of my expectations. Her role has varied from week to week and has ranged from highly creative, very collaborative endeavors to more administrative and project based assignments where she's excelled working independently. Her communication and human relationship abilities may be her greatest strength.

What I appreciate most about Kela is that I can throw virtually anything at her, whether it be an idea, a project, a question that requires research, or even a client relationship, and I have complete confidence that she'll take it and run with it and see it through to success with virtually no direction or oversight. Being able to trust someone with almost anything you ask of them is like gold in our business, as things are often moving at a breakneck pace, with regularly changing variables at every step of the way. Thankfully, Kela is always calm, cool and effective under challenging conditions.

Kela's role at Marmoset has included project management, event planning and coordination, helping manage a wide array of administrative processes and tasks, and helping teach and lead our interns with new software, programs, and processes. She regularly works directly with our clients (ad agencies, production companies, and bands/artists) and always develops and maintains exceptional client relationships. Kela has also helped manage our company blog, crafting and contributing to our online voice and brand.

I recommend Kela without reservation for any client relations, customer service, project management and similarly focused roles. She's an incredibly fast learner and I sincerely believe she can accomplish virtually anything she sets out to accomplish. Please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions or if you would like to discuss her experience and capabilities further.

Sincerely yours,

Ryan Wines
